

Abstract

A writing instrument holder may be constructed from a sheet of corrugated plastic, that is cut to the desired configuration and glued, riveted, stitched, or otherwise attached to a mounting surface. The corrugated plastic forms a series of open tubular cells. A selected tubular cell receives the clip of a pen, pencil, or other writing instrument, while the writing instrument hangs by the clip on the outside of the holder.